

Visit of Adi Raval – US Journalist and Communication Expert on 21 May 2018

Adi Raval, an American-Indian Journalist cum Communication expert visited Delhi School of Journalism on 21 May 2018 and interacted with the students. He delivered a brief lecture on Media and Global Politics, exploring his vast experience in reporting from the conflict zones in the Middle East.

Raval a former journalist with ABC News and BBC and a communication expert with the Obama Administration elaborated the importance of understanding the very concept of Journalism, before practising it. He mentioned that studying journalism hones the writing and note taking skills which are very important while working on stories. He emphasised on Journalism as a foundation for an array of careers. He aserted that true journalism must be the reflection of the society.

He also spoke about how emotions are a hindrance between a Journalist and Journalism. Later, he elucidated the American media and how its role changed from reporting domestic and entertainment news to reporting international issues after the 9/11. The lecture came to an end with a brief question - answer session and vote of thanks.

Report by Muqsit Hasan Nahvi